

SCIENTOMETRICS IN RESEARCH UNIVERSITIES.

Shostak A.

In today's scientific world no one would dare refute the claim that true scientists may be the one whose work has been appreciated and recognized by the international scientific community. Recently in Ukraine to assess the effectiveness of the indicators of science among scientific publications and their citation. In order to assess the quality of scientific articles and research work in general, are often used scientometric indicators such as scientific citation index and impact factor of the journal. Actually, this is also referred to in the proposed article below.