

FEATURES OF PROJECT SKILLS OF FUTURE OF LANDSCAPE MANAGEMENT.

Halylova S. E.

Design skills, designing of landscape management, operations engineers garden economy, creativity.

The paper deals with the features of the design skills of the future engineers of landscape management. A definition of the term "design skills" is proposed, the features and the characteristics of the work of the engineers of landscape management and creative aspects are studied. It is noted that the engineers of landscape management use in their professional work research results from various fields of science and technology. The activities of the future engineers of landscape management combines creative and well regulated parties. It is a synthesis of design knowledge of laws, government regulations, skills competently reflect their ideas in drawings, sketches, design and creativity as a means of finding and forming new compositional and stylistic ideas. It was stated that all the skills that make up a group of design engineers skills of the future engineers of landscape management, are important, and their formation should be carried out in a harmonious relationship.