

THE OIL AND GAS COMPLEX OF UKRAINE AS AN OBJECT ADMINISTRATIVE AND LEGAL REGULATION

S.A. LOBANOVA, *postgraduate student,
Kyiv National University of Trade and Economics

This scientific article defines terms «oil and gas complex of Ukraine», «legal regulation», «administrative and legal regulation of oil and gas complex of Ukraine» and examines its contents and main features on the basis of existing array of national and international researches.

Oil and gas complex of Ukraine, legal regulation, administrative and legal regulation of oil and gas complex of Ukraine.

At the present stage of development of Ukrainian society cardinal social and economic changes that necessitate a rethinking of the concept of "oil and gas" and its place in the national economy, the system subjects and objects of administrative law and civil turnover. Important place in the system of legal regulation of the oil and gas industry takes its administrative and legal component. Accordingly, there is an urgent need to identify the legal nature of oil and gas as the object of administrative and legal regulation.

The aim of the presented article is the definition of "oil and gas sector of Ukraine" as the object of administrative regulations.

In order to further the development of categorical apparatus in the analyzed field define the notion of "oil and gas sector" and make a thorough analysis of the philosophical and legal categories as "regulation", "administrative regulation", etc., For which at present does not stop legal debates.

Current legislation Ukraine does not contain normative definition of "oil and gas sector," which requires its detection by comparison with related concepts and research foreign legislation.

In summary it can be stated that the current level of oil and gas research facility as administrative and legal regulation is far from perfect. In addition, the legislation still contains no official definition of "oil and gas sector," but it operates by identifying the concept of "oil and gas".

By organizing the views of scholars, we concluded that the oil and gas sector as an object of administrative and legal regulation - a system of social relations governed by administrative law arising between the executive in the exercise of delegated state functions and physical, legal entities by business sub objects, the matter of ownership, in prospecting, exploration and development of oil and gas, oil and gas production, refining, storage, transport and sale of oil, gas and their products, as well as gas, oil, petroleum product people, businesses, institutions and organizations for the smooth functioning of the oil and gas sector of Ukraine, balancing public interests of individuals and legal entities, state and society.

The above sends a need for scientific research problems of administrative and legal regulation of oil and gas Ukraine relations and the development of the proposals.