

ADMINISTRATIVE AND LEGAL NATURE OF ECONOMIC SECURITY OF UKRAINE

R.K. PADALKO, researcher,

National University of Life and Environmental Sciences of Ukraine

Article is devoted to the examination of administrative and legal nature of economic security. Analysis of legal signs of economic security.

Security, national security, economic security, public service fighting economic crime in Ukraine.

The concept of "economic security" is relatively new in the Ukrainian lexicon, although it is quite common and has long been used in developed countries. The problem of economic security first appeared in the 30-ies of the last century in the USA. The urgency of this problem was due to the existing at that time a powerful global crisis and the need to experience rapid response measures to threats of this magnitude within the national economy. Relevant is the comparison of this with the situation in Ukraine, which we have today.

However, the category of "economic security" is logically included in the special vocabulary, including legal, literature, which was not only institutional, but also regulatory consolidation in the legal acts and regulations. With the adoption of the Constitution of Ukraine on 28 June 1996, this concept was given constitutional status.

Some legal aspects of economic security was discussed in numerous works of scientists in the field of theory of state and law, constitutional, administrative, international and other branches of law. However, despite the intensity of research on various aspects of this problem, many issues, including questions of administrative and legal nature of economic security, remain unexplored and controversial. To address these gaps and directed this article.

On the basis of the analysis of administrative and legal nature of economic security it is possible to draw the following conclusions: The term "security" is not absolute, but only relative and semantic significance only in relation to specific objects and sphere of human activity and the world. In this connection, it should first define specific security types, and only on this basis to extract the content of each type of security (legal, political, military, economic, environmental and so on).

The category "security", "national security", "economic security" are related as General, special and individual.

Administrative and legal nature of economic security is manifested in the signs that characterize.

The activities of the State service for combating economic crime of Ukraine in the sphere of economic security it should be noted that it is manifested in social relations, regulated by the relevant rules of law, which seeks to minimize, neutralize or eliminate through legal means internal and external threats (including factors of a criminal nature) interests in the economic sphere of man and of the citizen, society and state.